Kimberley McCosker Photojournalism

2008 graduate Kimberley McCosker was a high achiever in Visual Art and Film & Television while at CDSHS and participated in the school's 2008 Cultural Exchange trip to Europe, which kindled a love of travel and strong desire to learn about the world.

After graduating, Kimberley spent a year working and travelling through the Middle East then began two degrees in photography and journalism, receiving the Queensland University of Technology's Vice-Chancellor's Scholarship.

In 2014 Kimberley photographed the work of UNICEF in Cambodia and a number of not-for-profit organisations in Laos. In 2015 Kimberley will be filming a documentary on the humanitarian impact of landmines on Burmese refugees, before moving to Cambodia to work as a photographer for the country's largest English-language newspaper. She currently sits on the national board of not-for-profit organisation SafeGround.

Kimberley is building a career that will allow her to use her skills as a catalyst for education and social change by documenting the development challenges facing communities around the world.
